Why Recycle? It's the Law!

German environmental laws and Army Regulation 200-1 (Separate Or Recycle Trash Program - SORT) require separation and special disposal of recyclable materials and hazardous waste.

Recycling protects Public Health and the Environment, and saves Taxpayers Money!

Recycling reduces the volume of solid waste that would normally be burned in the incinerator. Using recyclables and recycled products saves energy and reduces air and water pollution. In addition, trash disposal costs increase every year.

The recycling of one ton of waste costs only 25% compared to the disposal cost of the same amount of trash as residual waste. Thus, recycling saves taxpayers money that can be used to improve the quality of life in our community.

Recycling at Home

Pre-sorting at home and office: Have a container ready for glass, metal, plastic, household hazardous materials and residual waste. PX/Commissary bags or boxes can double as recyclable containers. Be creative. Cardboard boxes work well because they are sturdy. Stackable crates are good for people with limited space.

Rinsing recyclables will prevent odors and pests.

Recycling Quiz

Now that you are familiar with the USAG Ansbach SORT program, test your knowledge!

- In which container should you dispose of your leftover food?
 - In the black container for regular trash.
 - In the brown container for BioWaste if available. If not, then in the black container with regular trash.
 - In the green container for paper/cardboard.
- Disposal costs for metal cans, glass bottles, paper, and used clothing in housing areas are:
 - $225 / ton
 - $0 / ton
 - $10 / ton
- Where would you dispose of an empty can of oven cleaner?
 - In the black container for regular trash
 - In the container for metal
 - At the recycling center
- Where would you dispose of empty beer bottles?
 - In the yellow container for plastic
 - If not returnable for a refund, in the containers for glass, separated by color
 - In the black container for regular trash
- Where would you dispose of your broken TV?
 - Set it next to the recycling igloo station
 - Throw it out with the regular trash
 - Take it to the local recycling center

plastics

scrap metal

electric/electronic waste

CDs and DVDs

batteries

cork

German Recycling Centers take a variety of materials. Here are some examples:

- Plastic material not listed on page 17: toys, baby bottles, bags, flowerpots, buckets, tubs, plastic baskets, etc.
- remove all metal
- Scrap metal
- Bulk waste, wood/wooden items
- Electric and electronic appliances, cables, energy saving bulbs, fluorescent lamps
- CDs and DVDs
- Household batteries, coin batteries, rechargeable batteries
- Candles
- Cork, cork stoppers from wine bottles, cork pin boards
- Shoes and clothes in good condition
- Stoneware, porcelain, pottery
- Window glass, mirrors, wired glass
- Cooking grease/oil

Handling of cooking grease:

1. Thickened grease: please collect in plastic bags
2. Liquid grease/oils: please collect in bottles or cans

Cooking grease/oil clogs your sewer line! Do not pour down the drain!

Household Hazardous Waste

By definition, Household Hazardous Waste are products that may, due to their chemical nature, pose a threat to human health or the environment when handled improperly (see page 19 for examples).

Household Hazardous Waste are commercial products not procured through military channels. For disposal on-post, see page 9, for off-post disposal see page 19 .

Limit your Use of Hazardous Products!

- choose 'green' cleaners (vinegar works great)
- buy only what you will use and use it all
- choose pump sprays over aerosol sprays
- use water based paint
- reuse paint thinners and turpentine
- choose native, pest resistant plants
